

Benefits and Privileges: APM - 720 - Leaves of Absence/Holidays

720-4 Definition

Official holidays for both academic-year and fiscal-year appointees are those administrative holidays designated annually in the University Calendar. Academic appointees are regarded as in service during periods of academic recess and intersession that are not administrative holidays. For both academic-year and fiscal-year appointees, periods of academic recess are only recess from meeting formal classes. They are not recess from research, committee and other administrative duties, or other University obligations.
